Cont. 0541371576

Dear Sir,

RE: FORMAL DEMAND FOR RETRACTION OF DEFAMATORY PUBLICATIONS, PUBLIC APOLOGY AND UNDERTAKING TO REFRAIN FROM FURTHER PUBLICATION AGAINST SPICY FOODIES.

We act as Solicitors for and on behalf of SPICY FOODIES (restaurant business) per its Manager, Mr. Moses Kpedi, Wa (hereinafter referred to as "our client"). We therefore write to you upon his instructions concerning certain allegations you leveled and or published against SPICY FOODIES which were carried on Facebook and TikTok regarding an alleged diversion of guinea fowls.

Our attention has been drawn to a Facebook and Tiktok publications in which you alleged, among other things, that some guinea fowls meant for certain residents within the Wa Municipality were diverted, slaughtered and subsequently sent to SPICY FOODIES for sale.

You made these allegations on 10/11/2026 during an unlawful assembly by you and a handful of some young persons in front of the Wa Municipal Assembly. You also repeated substantially the same allegations on same day at the Sungmaale FM, Wa when you were granted an interview.

Our client is deeply concerned and aggrieved by these allegations because of the serious and damaging implications of the allegations for the image, reputation, goodwill and commercial interest of SPICY FOODIES.

You will appreciate that SPICY FOODIES is an established restaurant business with its own commercial identity, reputation and clientele. It operates in an environment where public confidence, customer trust and goodwill are essential to its continued existence and success.

By alleging that guinea fowls allegedly diverted from the public were slaughtered and sent to SPICY FOODIES for sale, you have conveyed the impression to the general public that the restaurant is a direct beneficiary of the alleged diversion of public property/resources and is knowingly involved in the commercial exploitation of property intended for the benefit of the general public.

The natural and ordinary meaning of your publication is that SPICY FOODIES is engaged in, or knowingly facilitates, the receipt and sale of improperly acquired public property for private commercial gain. This is a grave imputation of dishonesty and commercial impropriety against the restaurant.

Our client considers these allegations particularly injurious because they have the potential to cause members of the public, existing and prospective customers, suppliers, business associates and other stakeholders to lose confidence in SPICY FOODIES and to associate its operations with dishonest, unethical and potentially criminal conduct.

Indeed, the publication has the potential to undermine the restaurant's goodwill, drive away customers, damage its commercial relationships and adversely affect its business operations and future prospects.

Our client maintains that the allegations are unfounded and has instructed us to demand an immediate retraction and apology from you in order to protect the reputation and commercial interests of SPICY FOODIES.

In the circumstances, we have our client's instructions to formally demand that you do the following within SEVEN (7) DAYS upon the receipt of this letter:

1. Immediately and unequivocally retract the allegations suggesting that SPICY FOODIES received and sold guinea fowls allegedly diverted from the public for private commercial gain.
2. Publish an unqualified public apology on Facebook, Tik Tok and Sungmaale FM, being the same platform on which the original allegations were made, acknowledging the damaging and unfounded nature of the allegations against SPICY FOODIES.

3. The retraction and apology must be published with the same or comparable prominence and visibility as the original publication so that the persons who were exposed to the allegations can equally see the retraction and apology.
4. Delete or cause to be deleted the offending publication and any related defamatory comments or materials under your control.
5. Provide a written undertaking that you will refrain from making, publishing or circulating any further statements or allegations associating SPICY FOODIES with the alleged diversion, receipt or sale of guinea fowls unlawfully acquired.

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that should you fail, refuse or neglect to comply with these harmless demands within the stipulated seven (7) days, our instructions are to take appropriate legal action against you, without further reference to you. This is meant to protect our client's interests and the reputation and commercial goodwill of SPICY FOODIES.

In the event you make our client to engage you in a needless legal tussle, our client will seek all appropriate remedies available under the laws of the Republic of Ghana, including damages, costs and such further reliefs as the court may consider just and appropriate.

This letter is intended to afford you an opportunity to retract the offending allegations, apologise and resolve this matter amicably without the necessity of litigation.

We trust that you will treat this demand with the seriousness it deserves and act accordingly within the stipulated period.

BE ADVISED ACCORDINGLY!

Yours faithfully,
